OUR SERVICES

STRATEGY

Businesses now operate in very fast paced and highly competitive environment. Therefore, to achieve success, they need to articulate their objectives, refine them from time to time as they progress towards achieving these objectives.

The business vision must be clear to the owners/operators as well as all the stakeholders. Potentials and opportunities must be identified and harnessed while threats and weaknesses are mitigated or worked on so they don't inhibit growth. TripleChen Advisory can help business articulate their corporate philosophy, identify their objectives and help with models and framework to measure and manage them.

MANAGEMENT

Performance improvement is a legitimate business need in today's business environment. To improve on a performance, unique challenges inhibiting performance must be identified, data sets around them analysed, expert solutions and scenarios generated and the best-fit option chosen and adopted. Progress is measured until the performance is as effective and efficient as can be.

Typical areas in a business that usually requires performance improvement are operations, technology, marketing, human resources and change management. TripleChen Advisory is well positioned to assist business with business performance improvement engagements.

FINANCE

Business performance are measured basically in monetary values. A lot of the inputs required to create valuable outputs (goods and services) that are then exchanged for money to generate revenue requires fund to acquire them. Successful businesses prioritize financial management as a way to measure their health. At TripleChen Advisory, we help businesses in the development of their strategy along the following themes

- Corporate finance, capital structure and fund raising
- Risk management and financial planning
- Crisis management: Restructuring and turnaround capital optimization
- Transaction services like valuation, due diligence and M&A support
- Cost control and value optimization

PEOPLE & ORGANISATION

Businesses need key talent and purpose-fit organisational structure to be certain of success and long-term sustainability. TripleChen Advisory help businesses attain alignment between their people and culture strategy and their overall success drivers. This alignment ensures the business objectives are achieved.

TripleChen Advisory help businesses design and develop their HR strategies including things like talent acquisition, staff evaluation, talent pipeline development etc. We can also help business structure and restructure (where necessary) their organisational structure that ensure growth.
